MINERS' UNION ADDRESS.

The Miners' Union of Leadville, Colorado, has issued an address to Governor McIntyre and the people generally in which it is alleged that a conspiracy exists among the mine owners, the object of which is to keep the militia in Leadville until the Union is disorganized. The Union disclaims responsibility for the outrages perpetrated at Leadville and offers to guard property and aid in maintaining peace if the troops are withdrawn.

The address declares that the organization of workingmen is lawful and commendable and has become a necessity in all lands. A dozen men, though wealthy and powerful, should not be allowed to destroy it, and much less should they be aided and encouraged by the State in doing so. The Union is anxious for an amicable settlement of the difficulties. They say they opened the field of the immensely productive district of Leadville and made it possible for millionaires to arise from it. They have in it the interest of a day's pay for a day's work, bread and meat, shelter and clothing, for themselves and their families, while others have in it the interest of rapidly accumulating fortunes. They are ready and willing to enter into any reasonable proposition for a settlement, and will meet the operators in spirit of fairness and justice.

It must be conceded that if capital is permitted to organize trusts and combinations to make it remunerative, that labor should be allowed the same privilege. If that right is accorded wealth it should not be denied those whose only capital is their ability to perform a day's work. The authorities do not interfere when capital combines to put artificial prices on the necessities of life, and they should not interfere when workingmen attempt to make their labor remunerative. Of course money has a great advantage over labor, though without labor it cannot be remunerative. Trusts can advance the price of any commodity that the people are obliged to purchase and refuse to sell it at less than the fixed price. Labor can also fix a price for a day's work, but as the supply at this time exceeds the demand it cannot maintain the price, as the trusts do, and the moment it resorts to force to do so the strong arm of the law intervenes and crushes it.

The Leadville Miners' Union disclaims all responsibility for the outrages perpetrated in that city. It announces that it desires the troubles between the miners and mine owners amicably settled and the troops withdrawn and the people ought to assist it in its efforts to accomplish this purpose.

STATISTICS OF OCCUPATION.

Carroll D. Wright, Commissioner of Labor, has transmitted to the Secretary of the Interior a special report on the statistics of occupations as shown by the census of 1890. There were 22,735,661 persons ten years of age and over engaged in gainful occupations in 1890 of whom 18,821,090 were males and 3,914,571 females. Of these 3,623,730 persons, of whom 510,613 were females, were not employed at their principal occupations during some part of the census year ending May 31, 1890. Of the whole number of persons unemployed 1,818,661 were unemployed from one to three months, 1,369,418 from four to six months and 386,447 from seven to twelve months. This is equivalent approximately to 1,839,672 persons unemployed at their principal occupations for the entire twelve months.

It should be borne in mind that during that period of what our gold friends term "great prosperity" there were considerable more than a million persons who could not get employment at their principal occupations for a whole year. Now under the benign influence of the gold standard it would be interesting to know how many persons are deprived of the opportunity of earning a livelihood at their principal occupations, but that information is not obtainable, nor will it ever be known as no census of the unemployed was taken last year.

SEVERE WEATHER.

Reports from many parts of the country say that a cold wave almost unprecedented in severity at this season of the year, has swept the whole northern country. In Montana, Wyoming, the Dakotas, Nebraska and parts of Colorado there have been heavy snow storms, in addition to the cold, impeding railroad traffic. The storms extend south into Kansas and Missouri. While there has been no heavy snow in the valleys in this State considerable rain has fallen and the cold is unusual for November. The weather prophets say this means an open winter until the latter part of January. This prediction is based on what occurred in former years, but as this has been a phenomenal year in many respects it is not probable the result will hold good.

District Attorney Backus of Kings county, New York, says if Corbett and Fitzsimmons attempt to fight at Coney Island or elsewhere in Kings county they will be arrested. It makes no difference what they do in New York he will enforce the law.

WEST VIRGINIA REPENTING.
The Sacramento Bee says West Virginia cast her vote for McKinley because of the promise of "opening the mills," "higher wages" and "greater prosperity." It is only three weeks since the election, McKinley was successful, but West Virginia is not happy. Several factories have been closed, no new ones have been opened, and there are a number of strikes in different sections, because the operators refuse to submit to a 10 or 20 per cent reduction in wages.

The "advance agent of prosperity" started out too far ahead of the show.

SEVERE WEATHER.

Snow and Cold Blockade Railroads.
St. Paul, November 28.—An Aberdeen special says: The recent storm has not been paralleled since the great blizzard of January 12, 1888. The drifts on the streets and railroad tracks are six feet deep. Railroading has been entirely abandoned until the storm breaks. The Eureka accommodation is fast at Hillview. The loss to stock, it is feared, will be great. A dispatch from Wellen, South Dakota, says: The worst snowstorm and blizzard through this section for years commenced Wednesday night. The trains are blocked and the snow drifts on the main streets are fifteen feet deep. Stock will suffer greatly.

A light snowfall only was reported to-day, but seems the closing fury of the big blizzard. The temperature dropped. The low point in this city was seven below early this morning. Moorhead reported 24 below, Huron 3 below, Williston 22 below, Winnipeg 24 below. The trains are badly delayed. Telegraphic communication is greatly crippled.

DENVER, November 28.—The minimum temperature record taken at the Denver station weather bureau to-day was 8 degrees below zero, Leadville, 17 below zero, Pueblo 12 below, Cripple Creek 14 below. The cold has been more severe in Wyoming than in Colorado. At Lander, Wyoming, the thermometer recorded 28 below zero last night. Idaho Falls, Idaho, reported 26 below. The weather is moderating to-day.

WASHINGTON, November 28.—A traffic blockade by storms in the Northwest is reported to the Postoffice Department in the following dispatch from the Superintendent of Railway Service at St. Paul: "On account of a heavy blocking snowstorm trains on the Great Northern and Northern Pacific lines in South Dakota and Montana are at a standstill and the telegraph wires are down, and it will probably be 48 hours before the regular train service is resumed.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

Heavy gales have done much damage to shipping on the coasts of the British Isles.

The plant of the East Clayton Brick Company at Nelsonville, Ohio, was burned yesterday; loss $100,000.

The present storm in Minnesota and the Northwest is the most severe since the great blizzard eight years ago.

Wheat sold in New York yesterday at 91 cents per bushel, at 89 cents in Chicago and at $1.00 for May delivered at Toledo, Ohio.

Dr. Jameson, the leader of the Transvaal raiders, is seriously ill in Holloway jail, England, to which he was sentenced for fifteen months.

Denver is experiencing the coldest weather ever known there in November. The mercury yesterday morning registered 9 degrees below zero.

Cardinal Satoli declares that the reports that he made a report to the Pope touching the University at Washington or Archbishop Ireland are absolutely false.

The Supreme Court in San Francisco has entered judgment in favor of Charles L. Fair against the executors of his father's estate to quiet title to the Lick House property.

The 1,000 Italians who have taken the places of the strikers at Hamburg, Germany, will be lodged on board the steamer Fuerst Bismarck, which has been fitted for the purpose.

Senator Sherman of Ohio denies that he is dealing with Mark Hanna relative to the Ohio Senatorship and a place in McKinley's Cabinet. Sherman says Hanna is his friend and a man of fine attainments.

Colonel Jose Reyes, Aid-de-camp of the Cuban General Maceo, reports that the most decisive battle of the war was fought thirty miles from Havana, and 2,000 of Weyler's men were killed in two days fighting.

The Anaconda Mining Company at Butte, Montana, has given the miners notice of a cut of 50 cents a day in wages, beginning December 1st. Other big mining companies intend to follow suit. The leaders of the American Federation of Miners will endeavor to avoid a strike at Butte, as the Leadville strike is severely taxing the financial resources of the organization.

C. B. Pendleton, proprietor of the Democrat at Key West, Florida, was taken off the Morgan Line steamer at Havana, as he was leaving for home.

Congressman Cooper of Florida, now in Washington, says Pendleton is in poor health and if he is imprisoned in a damp cell in Moro Castle it may cost him his life.

Secretary Olney told Cooper he had not been informed of the arrest of Pendleton, who is an American citizen, and he cabled our Consul at Havana to investigate the matter.

P. J. Kelly, a jeweler, closed his place of business in San Jose yesterday, went to his residence, barricaded the Policemen unable to break in the door fired at Kelly through the window and shot him through the body. The deed was caused by jealousy, and Kelly, who is in a dying condition, is said to be in

The officers of a Topeka charitable institution say there are over four hundred women in the city who have been deserted by their husbands. These women appeal for work or solicit funds with which to buy bread for themselves and their children. The charitable society attributes this unfortunate condition of affairs in a city of 35,000 inhabitants to hard times and the general worthlessness of the men.

Neighbors Only.
A car was going through the Lasalle street tunnel, says the Chicago Tribune, when the conductor began to collect the fares. About half way down the car sat a prima, elderly woman. Beside her was a curly headed boy, with a mischievous expression in his blue eyes. The woman paid her fare. The conductor hesitated. "That boy's over age, madam," he said.

"What do you mean?" she asked.

"He's over 6 years old."

"Why, I guess he is," she said, turning around and looking at him. The boy laughed.

"And he takes up a seat the same as bigger folks," the conductor went on.

"So he does," replied the lady.

"Madam, you'll have to pay his fare."

"I don't see why," indignantly.

"He's your boy, and—"

The small boy could no longer restrain himself.

"I don't belong to her," he said, laughing, and he gave the conductor his nickel, but the woman somehow didn't seem to enjoy the mistake.

A Ring Out of a Single Diamond.

A ring exhibited at the Antwerp exhibition was the admiration of diamond cutters and merchants, being the first successful attempt to cut a ring out of a single stone. There are a great many difficulties in this method of cutting diamonds, as the stones have a certain cleavage and particular veins, all of which have to be carefully studied in order to prevent splitting just as success occurs within reach. After several unsuccessful attempts and three years' labor the fact has been accomplished by the patience and skill of M. Antoine, one of the best known lapidaries of Antwerp. The ring is about six-eighths of an inch in diameter. In the Marborough cabinet there is a ring cut out of one entire and perfect sapphire. Edmund Russell.

A Sharp Little Girl.

A poorly clad little village girl went into a stationer's shop the other day. She wished to buy some writing paper and finally was shown some at 15 cents a quire.

"How much will half a quire be?" she inquired in a plaintive little voice.

"Ten cents," replied the assistant.

"If you please, I'll take the other half."

—San Francisco Chronicle.

The Cold Shoulder.

"To give the cold shoulder" is said to have originated in a practice once common in France, and during Norman days in England also. When a guest had outstaid his welcome, instead of the launch of mutton or venison usually served at dinner, a cold shoulder of mutton was placed before him as a hint that he had better go.

The first American college was Harvard, which was opened to receive students in 1638, at Newton, Mass., now Cambridge.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before protracted efforts—genial efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constituted condition of the system, which the pleasant, friendly laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly, by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be compelled to the most skilful physician, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

STATE CAPITAL NOTES.
The Hartley-Foley Jury Disagrees—So Also in the Longbaugh Divorce Case—Honey and Jones—Incidental Items.

CARSON CITY, November 28, 1896.—When the U. S. District Court met this morning the jury in the Hartley-Foley case came in with the declaration that they could not possibly agree. His Honor stated that they so reported to him last night, and considering that they had conscientiously tried to do their sworn duty in the matter according to their appreciation of the law and evidence involved he was thankful discharged them.

They stood eight for the juvenile claimant to a portion of the Foley estate and four against him. The case principally hinged upon what credence should be placed in the testimony of Mrs. Hartley, the mother of the boy, declaring that Foley made a written statement in her presence acknowledging that he was the father of the babe that unborn.

Considering the scarcity of the testimony adduced it is evident that the jury studied the looks of the little boy before them and were sympathetically influenced somewhat in his favor.

By agreement of the attorneys and the court the new trial of the case will take place at the next term of the court in March next.

Sam Longbaugh's divorce case before Judge Mack also ended yesterday in a disagreement of the jury. It stood six to six; new trial later on.

Thomas J. Hilderbrand, a Carson family man arrested as the firebug who has been trying to burn up the public school house was on trial in the Justice's Court to-day. Damaging evidence was brought against him, and the case was concluded till Monday next.

In response to inquiry it may be stated that Jones and Honey, who were sentenced to eight years in the State Prison for looting the Carson Mint will, deducting their commutations for good behavior, serve five years and eight months each if they live and are not pardoned sooner. The yearly commutations are two months the first two years, three months the next two years and four months the last four years of the eight year's sentence.

Each was fined also $3,000 which if they do not pay, they will be kept in a month longer and then discharged.

Honey was sentenced December 24, 1895, and Jones May 4, 1896.

Attorney General Beatty is fast recovering from his deadly attack of pneumonia, although still confined to his room and bed. Wales Averill's dropsey has improved sufficiently to permit his removal from the Arlington to a private residence with his family. Old Tim Connolly is also giving the pneumonia a clean shake and will soon be able to walk defiantly past the undertaker's shop.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE WORK IN DOUGLAS.

The Cause Gaining Ground Right Along.

EDITOR STATE JOURNAL—Mrs. J. R. Williamson, State Organizer and Lecturer of E. S. A., spoke again to Douglas County people on the evening of the 21st inst., at the prosperous village of Gardnerville.

The Gardnerville brass band generously contributed some soul-stirring, patriotic music to the occasion, thus calling together the inhabitants of the burgh and attracting the attention of visitors from different parts of the county to the new Harris Hall, where the lecture was given.

Mrs. Williamson spoke in her usual forcible style on the equal suffrage question for an hour to an attentive audience. Appropriate exercises completed a very interesting program.

Douglas has the only Equal Suffrage League in this State, and the establishing of the equal suffrage work on this broad basis has been a success from its inception.

Mrs. K. F. Martin, wife of Senator J. H. Martin of Douglas, ably supported by Mrs. Emma Heinmanson, Secretary, Mrs. Nettie Brown, Treasurer, and wide awake Vice Presidents in each precinct, has made an efficient President for the past year and an officer of no mean executive ability.

The suffrage is growing in popularity and adherents in this county, and if other counties do their work as faithfully as the women of this county are doing theirs the sixth amendment will be carried by a large majority before the close of the coming Legislature.

"Alabama."

"Alabama," a comedy drama with the plot laid in the South, was produced at the Opera House last night before a fair-sized audience. The play was of the sentimental kind interspersed with bits of quaint humor and some very good singing of plantation melodies by a quartette. Clement Bainbridge as Captain Davenport, a Northern railroad man, acted his part well and was well supported by Ethel Irving as Carey Preston. The other characters were well sustained by a capable company.

Half Kaffir, Half Englishman.

If, as is sometimes held, though we ourselves are very strongly of the opposite opinion, the Hottentots and Bushmen of South Africa are not human creatures caught in the very act of developing from lower forms, but are the result of degeneration from some higher type, then the creature resulting from a cross between the two might revert to the higher type and be of higher social feeling and intellectual power than either. We have ourselves in only one instance met an individual who was a cross between the English and Kaffir races, though we know that several such exist in South Africa. This man was certainly merely a composite of the two races, without any tendency to reversion. He was the son of an English gentleman; his mother was a Kaffir woman who had not been dragged under the feet of civilization.

The man was proud, determined, resolute. Self educated, he raised himself to a post of high trust under the English government. He combined the dash and courage of the Kaffir with the pride and intelligence of the Englishman. He had the fault, which is common to both his parent races, of being cruel and indomitable when opposed, but of the vices supposed to be inseparable from half castism—servility and insincerity—he had not a trace. He was a man and a gentleman. But whether if such crosses were common such men would often arise is quite another question.—Forthnightly Review.

Patsy Took a Bill.

Patsy had been in the country only a few days and had not recovered from the effects of his ocean voyage. He complained of a headache, and his sympathetic aunt finally decided to give him a Seidlitz powder. She got two glasses and put the contents of the blue package into one and emptied the white package into the other.

"Now, you hold your mouth open," said his aunt, holding the glasses, one in each hand.

Young Patsy opened a spacious cavern, displaying two fine rows of molars, and, with a dexterous motion, his aunt mixed the contents of both glasses and poured the Seidlitz powder into his face. He spluttered and coughed and ran about the room.

"Well, how did you like it?" asked his aunt smilingly when he had recovered.

"I don't know," said Patsy, "but if you'll give me a cold, I'll tell you."

In the afternoon, however, New Year's eve.

Diphtheria Cure.

The testimony of a prominent physician:

FOUNTAIN CITY, Ind., June 17, 1895.

This certifies that I have been using V. O. in my practice. I have never found any medical preparation in 46 years of practice that is calculated to do so much good in so wide a range of diseases and leave no after bad effects. In Diphtheria it has proved a perfect specific in my hands, and I had rather depend on it alone in that dreadful disease than the whole popular Materia Medica with that left out.
